The ASCENDER Home page serves as a personalized dashboard and displays links to all ASCENDER applications to which your user profile has access. All applications are displayed, including applications you may not have access to.

Under My Applications on the left side of the page, only the applications to which you have rights are listed. All other applications are listed under Other Applications.

Access rights for each application must be set in the Security Administration system by a user with access to that system.
If you attempt to open an application you do not have rights to, the following page is displayed:

Click Exit to return to the Application Directory page.
