Payroll > Reports > Payroll Information Reports > Account Code Comparison

The report is an error listing. For the current year, the report identifies account codes in the payroll process and verifies that these account codes exist in Finance. If a code entered in the payroll process is not located in the chart of accounts, the account number, social security number, and name of the employee are printed on the report. For next year, the report identifies account codes on the Budget Data page of the Budget application.
